person leaves this earth determines his state of mind in the astral plane," says Mrs. Primavesi.

"All around the living, every day, are the spirits of those who have departed, influencing them for either good or evil.

"When an ignorant man is hanged his last thoughts are of revenge." He passes into an astral plane.

"The first thing his spirit does is to return to some of his old haunts on earth. There he does his best to provoke other murders.
